Cooper Receives 22,660 for Governor; Davey Has 11,742.

BAUKNECHT HIGH Probate Judge Riddle Re-elected by Two to One Vote.

Herbert Hoover's lead over Gov. Alfred E. Smith in Columbiana county's balloting in the presidential election Tuesday is 19,023, according to the unofficial count announced today by J. S. Hilbert, chief deputy of the election board.

Record Vote in County. Hoover polled 26,672 votes, while his Democratic opponent received 7,649. The combined votes of the two candidates was 34,321, the largest vote ever polled in the county.

Myers Y. Cooper, Republican, ran almost two to one ahead of Martin Davey, Democrat, in the gubernatorial race, the count showed. Cooper was given 22,660 against 11,742 given by Davey, or a majority of 10,918 for the G. O. P. nominee. Rest of the Republican ticket were given leads of two and three to one.

John E. Bauknecht, East Palestine, Republican nominee for prosecuting attorney, who received 23,626 votes, led the county ticket for contested places. His opponent, Gilbert Dean, Communist, received but 28 votes.

J. C. Kelly, East Liverpool, and Frank By, Newley, both Republicans, were easy winners in a field of five candidates for the two county commissioner places. Republican nominees for other county offices also received large majorities.

Probate Judge Lodge Riddle, seeking re-election, ran ahead of Charles F. Bough, West Point, his nearest opponent by better than two to one, polling 14,928 votes against 7,380 given Bough. Alvin Cullen, the third candidate, entered by the Communist party, polled 1,166 votes.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.)

THE news columns will supply you with facts and guesses on the election.

The main thing is that people really took the trouble to vote, something that comparatively few have done usually.

It would have been more encouraging had interest in public questions aroused the unusual interest rather than questions aside from American government.

But voting for any reason is welcome.

OLD Vermont farmers that knew "Cal Coolidge" as a little boy, helping his father with the farm chores, would have been amazed to see that same "Cal" yesterday getting out of a seven-car special train, taking him from the White House to the polls at Northampton, Mass.

THE president cast his first vote in Northampton, was elected candidate there, long ago, and has been steadily in office ever since, nominated nineteen or twenty times—never beaten. A record in politics as good as Cromwell's in war. Cromwell never lost a battle.

THE old farmers would observe with pleasure that being president, with $75,000 a year salary, a White House and a big yacht have not spoiled Calvin Coolidge. Next March he will move from the White House to Northampton and resume life in a small house which he rents for $32.50 a month.

SUCH a man is not dependent on money. But the president could save plenty of it. More than one law firm would be glad to guarantee him three times his presidential salary. And he (Continued on page eight, Col. Two)

A stretch of rich grape growing country miles long has been devastated.

Traffic on the Messina railway has been interrupted. Workmen removed the rails and ties to save them from destruction.

The molten flood has reached the outskirts of Giarre.

HOOVER'S TOTAL IS 22,000,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The constantly swelling "popular vote" of the two presidential candidates as belated final returns drift in, today had sent Herbert Hoover's total vote to approximately 22,000,000 while Governor Smith appears to have drawn about 17,000,000 ballots.

Both figures represent new all-time popular vote records, Smith even in defeat topping the total of any other candidate in history.

Even the Harding and Coolidge landslide of 1929 and 1934 failed to exceed the vote that it is estimated Smith has rolled up in defeat.

It was deeded to the board of education.

HOOVER WILL FOLLOW COMMON WILL, HE SAYS

President-elect Pledges Administration Based on Simplicity.

RESTS IN HOME Wins by Largest Electoral Majority in History.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

PALO ALTO, Cal., Nov. 8.—Herbert Hoover, president-elect by the largest electoral majority in United States history, was pledged today to an administration based on simplicity and "the common sense and ideals of the American people."

The simplicity keynote was sounded in Hoover's informal discussion of plans for the inauguration ceremonies in Washington, March 4.

His pledge to follow the common will of the nation in dealing with the great problems before him was given in his first public statement following the landslide election.

Home Now Private Residence.

Hoover rested today in his home here, alone save for his family and personal staff. For the first time since he returned Monday, his home was re-established as a private residence rather than a public institution.

The incessant clicking of the telegraph wires which chronicled the story of his election was silenced. All telegraph wires were moved from the Hoover home on San Juan Hill last night after final returns on the congressional and gubernatorial contests had been reported.

Batteries of moving picture cameras which have been focused on Hoover in every public move since his nomination at Kansas City five months ago, are folded today in the hotel corridors of Palo Alto. The once open door of the Hoover home is guarded by United States secret service operatives. President-elect Hoover is as inaccessible to the public and newspaper men as the occupant of the White House. Hoover was addressed today by the following:

Hoover's total vote to approximately 22,000,000 while Governor Smith appears to have drawn about 17,000,000 ballots.

WORKERS TRAPPED Children in Nearby Dwellings Badly Injured.

LYNN, Mass., Nov. 8.—Fifteen persons, including four children, were killed today when an explosion and fire tore apart a celluloid and leather factory on the Swampscott line and sent out tongues of flames which consumed five dwelling houses.

Alcohol, Benzine Explode. The roar of the explosion and the great flashes of flame were attributed to fifteen drums of alcohol, seven drums of benzine and a large quantity of celluloid stored in the two-story factory building of cement construction.

The dead: Harry Blaney, his wife, Lillian M., their children, Helen, 7; Thelma, 15; Dorothy, 3 months; Vivian, 8; John E. Nelson and William Clement, both factory workers, and seven others believed to be factory workers.

The burned bodies were on slabs in a local morgue where they were identified.

Workers Buried Beneath Debris. At the same time in hospitals 13 persons, including several children, were suffering from burns. The injured list included four other Blaney children—Harry, Jr., 14; Norman, 17; Ella, 18, and Lillian Jr., 12. The Blaneys occupied a dwelling house next door to the factory. Their home was a roaring furnace and a majority of the family were before they had an opportunity to escape.

Latest tabulations gave: Hoover, 226,556; Smith, 310,975.

In the Fourteenth congressional district where early returns had promised an easy victory for August McCloskey, Democrat, late returns from Republican strongholds had placed the result in doubt, with Wurzbach leading by a small margin. The vote stood: Wurzbach, 28,588; McCloskey, 28,501.

CHILD'S COLD WAS GONE IN JUST A FEW HOURS

Relief Began Instantly When Doctor Advised Home Use of Pleasant Hospital Method

A safe, sure method of treating colds at home—no pleasant children love it—is now being recommended by physicians as a result of its splendid record in extreme hospital cases and in home use among so many people in East Liverpool and throughout the state.

Mrs. A. H. Webster, for example, called her doctor when her son, Albert, Jr., awakened her by his harsh coughing. When the doctor arrived the child was breathing with difficulty and the thermometer showed fever. Relief began almost immediately then, when he gave double strength doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral—a hospital certified compound of ingredients approved by the leading clinics. In a few hours congestion had cleared up surprisingly and he ate heartily for the first time in three days. Next day he was out playing and in another day or so the cold was completely gone.

Note: See other cases—all certified by the attending physician.

Ayer's Pectoral can be had at the nearest drug store. Even sick children love the pleasant taste—and doctors advise it because it is as harmless as the purest food—made of wild cherry, turpentine and other ingredients which cold clinics and more than a million mothers have found to be the quickest and most effective to stop a cough and end the cold.

Graham hall of historical geology at Field Museum of Natural History. The paintings are a gift to the museum from Ernest R. Graham, one of the institution's trustees, and were executed by Charles R. Knight of New York, an artist noted for his paleontological studies.

The diprotodons and the giant kangaroos represented in the painting formed a conspicuous part of the Pleistocene fauna of Australia, according to Prof. Elmer S. Riggs, associate curator of paleontology at the museum.

The diprotodon was a huge herbivorous animal equalling the rhinoceros in size. Its nearest extant relatives are the Australian wombats. Remains of the diprotodons have been found in large numbers at Lake Kallabonnna, South Australia. Prof. Riggs states that the animals probably relied on the lake for their water, and apparently thousands, some of whose bones have been found in recent times, died on the lake bottom when the water evaporated in particularly dry seasons.

Expedition Returns From Gobi Desert; Report Discoveries

CHICAGO—What is now the Gobi Desert was a densely populated region, much more suited to human occupation than at present, a matter of ten or twenty thousands years ago, according to Alonzo W. Pond, archaeologist of the American Museum of Natural History, who has just returned to Chicago. The expedition was in charge of Roy Chapman Andrews.

Pond reported some of the interesting discoveries to Prof. Fay-Cooper Cole, head of department of anthropology at the University of Chicago, who had been his instructor.

"Even now the term 'Gobi Desert' is a misnomer," Pond said, "for it has flowers and grass in many parts. The expedition traveled 4,500 miles through territory, starting at Kalgan and all the way we found evidence of the same culture in old solidified dunes that had been wind eroded. We found many prehistoric stone implements of the neolithic period, axes, gouges, small scrapers for shaping bone, and various ornaments."

DISCOVER REPLICA OF LIBERTY BELL IN OLD CARPATHIAN CAPITAL

LONDON.—An exact replica of the American Liberty Bell in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, has been discovered in Uzhorod, capital of Carpathian, Russia, according to dispatches from Prague.

The discovery was made by Edward T. Heyn, formerly American vice-consul in Reichenberg.

Called the Liberty Bell of Czechoslovakia, it has long been sought by Czechoslovak officials by Czechoslovak officials. It was cast in the United States and brought over for the signing of the last Czechoslovak declaration of independence, at which time it was rung by the school children. For a time it was kept in Government house in Prague, but mysteriously disappeared several years ago.

Acting on a hint from a lumber dealer, Heyn, accompanied by Anthony Ambrose, president of the Slovak-American bank for Czechoslovakia, went to Uzhorod and found the bell buried in a wooden framework in the court yard of the Government house. It was covered with dust and chickens were roosting on its edges.

It is now being brought back to Prague in state, under a military escort.

LONDON.—The team of girl debaters who will meet "all women" and "mixed" teams at colleges in New York, Boston and the Middle West were chosen by the National Union of Students leaving for America, Miss Margery Sharp, one of the three members said:

"The chief subject of debate will be that 'The centralization of government deteriorates the political sense of the people.'"

"My part will be to supply the comic relief. I would rather tell an audience a funny story than debate serious subjects of this kind. But Miss Lockhart and Miss Samuel are very clever and can hold their own anywhere."

"I do hope I can make them laugh

Record Vote

With the canvass of returns from 106 precincts still under way, the unofficial count today showed that Columbiana county cast the largest vote in political history at Tuesday's presidential, state, district and county election.

The complete tabulation of the vote for Herbert Hoover, Republican nominee, and Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Democratic candidate, gives a total of 34,321, and, with the addition of the poll for the Socialist-Labor, Prohibition and Workers' Communist nominees, the 35,000 mark probably will be passed.

Thus the 30,000 poll of four years ago was topped with 5,000 in the county, while in East Liverpool the vote was 9,198 or nearly 2,500 in excess of the record vote at a primary election about five years ago.

The poll proves that the electorate, for once, manifested its interest to the extent of trekking to the polls. And this was true in every section of the county, for with more than three-quarters of the count completed the total popular vote has reached 30,000,000 in the nation.

Thus not only have Columbiana county voters dropped the term "apathy" from election discussions, but they also have added more laurels to the political forecast reputation of J. S. Hilbert, chief deputy of the county election board. Hilbert guessed virtually the exact vote polled in East Liverpool and Columbiana county.

Drug Slavery

A leading authority says that enough narcotics are used in this country every year to put every man, woman and child of us into a drugged sleep and keep us there for 12 days. That's one day a month. Over in "vice-ridden Europe" we find the French using four grams of dope, the English three, the Germans two and the Italians one, to our ten.

What that dope does to the souls and bodies of hundreds of thousands of Americans is beyond the imagination of the inexperienced.

How do they get the habit? Often, no doubt, from deliberate and rash experiment—adventures in new forms of intoxication. That is apt to be the way in the underworld. Often innocently, as school children acquire it from vicious associates or corner loafers. Often just as innocently, as respectable, grown-up patients get it from drugs given them by their physicians.

A doctor in a typical small American city tells of an old physician, of an old school, who recently passed away "leaving 75 patients in the hopeless grip of dope." Out of the kindness of his heart, he had given them "opiates to ease their pain" until the habit was fastened on them.

Says an elderly physician of another school, sterner and wiser, "I would rather endure torture myself than dull my mind and lose my freedom of will through drugs." He preaches that to his patients, and gives them narcotics only in the most extreme cases, lest he lead another into the slavery he would not endure.

Situation In Far East

The news from every source tells the same story of extreme gravity in the relations between Japan and China over Manchuria. The situation, apparently, is this:

The three eastern provinces known as Manchuria, which lie north of China proper, and of Korea, which Japan possesses, have some 354,000 square miles of area with immense natural wealth in field and forest and mineral deposits, and only about 20,000,000 population. The Chinese have claimed it as part of their empire, although they have not in years exercised control over it.

For a long period, and until the death recently of Chang Tso-Lin, that brigand ruled with greater or less deference to Japan. China's claims have been strengthened by the immigration of a great number of Chinese from China proper to Manchuria in the last three or four years. Japan has made no open claim to the territory, but has turned there for raw materials it greatly needs, has invested a large sum, has planted a considerable number of nationals and has claimed a special interest.

Into that situation, then, has been projected these facts:

First, the Nationalist movement has swept China, has set up its own government and is reaching out to reorganize the country's foreign relations. It is inevitable that a movement of such vigor should seek to convert the nation's claim to possession of Manchuria into a reality. Second, the death of Chang Tso-Lin and the rise to power of his son, Chang Hsueh-Liang, has weakened the authority of the old Manchurian regime, and there is a disposition manifest to bow to the will of the Nationalists—the disposition being quickened by racial feeling.

The question, then, arises as to Japan's course. And Japan has made it plain, by frequent intimations in Tokyo and finally by the dispatch of Baron Hayashi to Manchuria, that it opposes actual unity between China and Manchuria. The Japanese case is that the Nationalist government in China will not protect the interest Japan has built.

Protection of those interests, the Japanese would have the world believe, is a matter of self-preservation. Japan is not permitted to emigrate to Occidental countries. They must stay in Japan, but they have not sufficient raw materials to maintain them on their own soil.

Hence, Japan argues preservation of Manchuria as a supply source involves something close to life and death for a crowded industrial people. Before such a situation all theories as to sovereignty and all respect for the wishes of the western world, which is favorable to Chinese claims, must go down—or so the Japanese have said.

So the situation is whether China and the Manchurian government will bow to Japan, or whether they will defy Tokyo. And in the latter event whether Japan will make good its threats of force. Whatever happens will have far-reaching effects on the whole Asiatic situation, and perhaps will be reflected very widely in world politics.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 8.—As the rabbit hunting season opens the dread of a new disease, tularemia, is receiving special attention from medical and regulatory authorities. The disease is peculiar to the rabbit and has been observed only in recent years. In many cases it proves fatal, although the eating of cooked rabbit meat is one of the means of communicating the disease to human beings, it is contracted in the majority of cases by persons who dress rabbits, handle them at markets and prepare them for cooking.

Federal authorities at Washington find themselves unable to cope with the situation beyond giving warning of the prevalence of the malady. The bureau of animal husbandry and the United States meat inspection service are not authorized under the law to extend their inspections and quarantines to such game as rabbits. The only federal agency which reaches the difficulty in a regulatory manner is the pure food and drug administration of the department of agriculture but that agency is unable to take steps at present for two reasons. One is the inadequacy of its authorized staff to cope with a malady so widely disseminated and the other is the fact that it may only act where food products move in interstate commerce.

Rabbits appear in every state in the Union and, at this season of the year, are a favorite game of hunters. Many are shot for sport and many thousands are shot or taken in traps for the market. But because the furry little animal is so prevalent in all sections of the country, rabbits for the market are seldom shipped interstate. Probably the national capital itself receives more rabbits shipped interstate than any other large city. As Washington occupies so large a proportion of the District of Columbia, not many rabbits are taken within the district boundaries but Maryland on one side and Virginia on the other furnish many thousands for the tables of residents of the Capital city.

The federal authorities being unable to examine rabbits which have not been shipped interstate, nearly all cities are furnished with rabbit meat which does not come within the inspecting powers of the federal government, under the pure food and drug act.

The United States public health service has sent out warnings generally throughout the United States but that is the most it can do. The navy department's medical service also has issued warnings and also the American Medical association. Several state departments of health have taken up the matter. The state of Ohio has been especially active in fighting the malady and also Massachusetts.

The disease has been reported from every state in the Union with the exception of the New England states and Delaware, Wisconsin, and Washington. Ohio has reported the largest number of cases, 77; while Montana comes next with 53. The disease which, by the way, seems to be quite peculiarly American, appears to be on the increase. Prior to 1924 only fifteen cases had been reported but since that time some 600 cases have been found. It is entirely possible that these figures might be interpreted to mean that the disease has been in existence all along but not recognized as a separate malady.

The symptoms are described as similar in many respects to those of typhoid fever and influenza. In almost all cases, the disease is contracted through handling rabbit meat. It seems that the thinnest abrasion of the skin will admit the tularemia germs. Swelling of the infected part quickly follows and then chills and fever as in influenza. The fever abates after two or three days and then a secondary temperature occurs. This second fever lasts from two to three weeks and is accompanied by abdominal pains, weakness, vomiting, and sore throat.

As the disease is so new to the medical profession, no specific remedy has been discovered for it. Strict confinement to bed and general fever relief treatment are about all the doctors are able to prescribe so far. The newness of the disease has also made diagnosis slow, the symptoms often being taken for signs of other ailments.

State and municipal medical authorities are sending out circulars to physicians telling all they know concerning the malady and its symptoms and the medical officials of various communities are exchanging all the information they have.

An insidious aspect of the matter is that the disease is not solely transmitted by handling rabbits or eating rabbit meat. As in the case of all animals, rabbits have ticks of various sorts. These, upon reptation, drop off and later attach themselves to other animals. No reports have been made of any other meat carrying the infection to human beings but persons who have removed ticks from horses, cattle, dogs, and the like have become infected merely by thus handling the ticks. The man most in danger, the health officials point out, is the hunter who shoots a bag of rabbits, skins and dresses them himself, and roasts them over his woodland campfire. Such a sportsman is not likely to wear rubber gloves while dressing his catch and he is quite likely, in the course of his pursuit of game, to have many scratches from twigs and perhaps slight cuts from his own hunting knife.

Oddly enough, the live rabbit does not transmit the disease so far as is known. But the tamest bunny playmate of a child might have ticks and, in pulling these off, infection is possible because removal of ticks almost of necessity is accompanied by a few drops of blood which may find their way into a skin abrasion.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—There may be gold in the hills of Tin Pan Alley, but little of it has ever been mined. Everybody at some time or other writes a song, but in the long list only a small number have received noticeable profit. And only about a dozen have actually made fortunes.

For the great majority it is a tussle for "coffee and cake." The man who makes an income of $100 a week is considered fortunate by fellow artists in bongo-bongo land. Women rarely succeed at the precarious game. The only recent notable example is the lady who wrote "Ramona."

It is a man's racket chiefly because it requires a masculine braininess—a nerve. Even a good song requires "plugging" or it will linger in obscurity on music shop shelves. It used to be vaudeville singers were paid to boost a new song.

Today the big boost comes from radio singers, and those who indulge in this highly unethical racket often ask as high as 50 per cent of the royalties for broadcasting. Exploitation of a song in most cases cuts up the profits. Only an outstanding hit is profitable.

Jazz band leaders, phonograph record makers and others also come in for a slice of the spoils. As a result the author of a song is often plucked clean by petty graft. Irving Berlin is a financial success largely because he has his own publishing house and can thumb his nose at professional gleamers.

Music publishers long ago banded together not to pay theatrical acts to sing their songs. Hence this expense frequently falls on the luckless author. No way out of the dilemma so far seems possible. If one must write songs, one must pay the army of pliers.

There are a few songs earning $100,000 in royalties, like "Alexander's Ragtime Band" for example. Today $20,000 is considered a fair return and with exploitation for such a sale costing around $15,000 there is not much left for the author save seeing his name on the music sheet.

It was Tad, the cartoonist, who bestowed the name of "hot dog" on the succulent weiner encased in a mustard-smeared bun. And this name is responsible for their popularity, according to Harry Stevens, who should know for he has made several millions dispensing them to hungry crowds. Stevens publishes the score cards and programs and furnishes the soft drinks and hot dogs for all important race tracks, baseball parks and prize fights in America. On his letterhead is: "Harry Stevens, Publisher—Caterer" which is indicative of something pretty near a sense of humor. If Tad could only cash in on his slang!

Greyhound racing at Staten Island this year did not seem to catch on as it has in Florida and California. New Yorkers attended chiefly out of curiosity. Those who know, however, say the idea has been planted and next year the sport will be quite a vogue. But always bet on the rabbit!

During the severest hot spell of last summer many panting New Yorkers found the coolest spot in town in the purpled gloom of Grant's Tomb.

A bright group of enthusiasts in a 34th street office started a "two hour for lunch" movement and presented it in a round robin to the boss. They now have the time they desire for lunch. All were immediately fired.

The Childs restaurant restored meat to their menus some time ago, after going strictly vegetarian for a

Are You Ready

When your Children Cry for It

Baby has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do—what most physicians would tell you to do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sooner done than baby is soothed; relief is just a matter of moments. Yet you have eased your child without use of a single doubtful drug; Castoria is vegetable. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot put away. And it's always ready for the crueler pangs of colic, or constipation, or diarrhea; effective, too, for older children. Twenty-five million bottles were bought last year.

Again?

Periodically she suffered; expected to; was virtually an invalid certain days of every month. Then a trained nurse told her the story of Midol. A most marvelous medicine—not a narcotic—that actually ends such pain. Today, the woman who has learned the use of Midol regards menstruation as an incident! A harmless little tablet acting directly on the organs affected; in five to seven minutes not a twinge of pain remains! Midol is fifty cents, aluminum case.*

*Midol's comfort is not confined to any certain days or age. It relieves at any time of life. Its case is felt immediately in cases of nervous headache, backache, cramping, hot flashes and all febrile pain peculiar to women.

Red Cross Roll Call Will Begin Monday

Executive Committee Naming Leaders for Various Municipal Districts; 17 Memberships Already Paid.

WELLSVILLE, O., Nov. 8.—Annual Red Cross roll call, suspended for the last two years, will be renewed here Monday, Nov. 11, according to announcement today by officers of the Red Cross executive committee.

For the first time in the history of the organization, Wellsville's chapter will go into the drive with 17 memberships already paid-up. These memberships were obtained by Ralph Merriman, treasurer, at a meeting of the Rotary club here several months ago when he made preliminary announcement of plans for a resumption of the campaign.

The campaign will continue until Thanksgiving day.

The executive committee has divided the city into districts and is appointing leaders for each district, each of whom will be supplied with buttons and other paraphernalia to be used in the sale of membership.

The campaign two years ago was temporarily abandoned after a drive that netted six memberships. At that time boxes were placed in business houses around the city for the collection of funds.

The work this year will be handled by committees made up of volunteers from the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, the American Legion and other organizations.

The former executive committee will direct the work. The committee includes Miss Nan Stevenson, S. E. Daw, E. E. Alton, the Rev. R. W. Ustick, Mrs. George Howe, Mrs. M. A. Butler, Mrs. A. J. Stollper and Ralph Merriman. The Rev. Ustick and E. E. Alton, however, will be unable to take part, the former having gone to Springfield and the latter to Cleveland.

Thousands Blame Stomach for Gall Bladder Troubles

Right today, thousands of folks suffering with gas pains, indigestion, intestinal distress, constipation, headaches, dizziness, pains and burning in the right side think they have stomach trouble when it really is a lazy liver, thickened bile, or gall bladder inflammation.

Neglected, this always leads to gall stones, and an operation, especially in middle life, if not checked now.

One of the finest things in the world for this condition is a new home treatment, called Klax-Ko. It acts upon the liver, gall bladder, and intestinal tract. It stimulates the liver, and thus out the thickened bile. Also it assists in emptying the gall bladder and starts the bile flowing. If bile doesn't flow it stagnates in the gall bladder and the salts in it eventually crystallize and form gall stones.

You will be very grateful and surprisingly pleased at the great relief Klax-Ko brings. Don't go another day, constantly subjecting yourself to serious illness and possibly gall stones and an operation.

Klax-Ko is guaranteed to bring you the joyful relief you seek or money refunded. Obtain a 30-day treatment from Carnahan Drug Co. or your own druggist today.

It used to be that you knew immediately you laid your eyes on a girl whether she was a dear sweet thing, or one of those sirens that were a constant menace to humanity. But now—oh, my dear! You simply cannot discriminate at all! No, indeed! For every girl, whether she looks like an angel, or is a real vamp type is at heart a siren.

They are all singing the song of lure—no, that's not right! They don't lure—they simply attract the male element of the population, like a pot of honey calls to every fly within a radius of miles. Why shouldn't they? Their goal in life is Love and Happiness. And there's so much competition nowadays that one simply MUST be more or less a siren—in looks anyway.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color. These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 25c and 60c.

GOV. AL SMITH GOES BACK TO ALBANY DESK

Prepares to Wind Up His Career in Public Life.

"HAPPY WARRIOR"
Defeat Fails to Hold Down Executive's Spirit.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.
NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Governor Al Smith goes back to Albany today to wind up his career in public life. In his own words, "I never expect to run for public office again."
He is still the "happy warrior" that Franklin D. Roosevelt pictured to the Democratic convention at Houston last June. Not even the worst electoral defeat ever suffered by a Democratic candidate for the presidency could long hold down his irrepressible spirit. But hereafter he is determined that some one else is going to stand on the firing line and take the gaff.
"I've got all I can stand of it," he said. "I've given a quarter of a century, probably the best years of my life, to it. That's enough. I will never lose my interest in public affairs, but so far as running for office again, that's out."

Party Leaders Stunned.
Governor Smith leaves behind him today a stunned and still somewhat bewildered group of party leaders who are trying to peer into the future and ascertain what, if anything, it holds for the Democratic party.

They are frankly disconsolate. The one Democrat whom they believed last June they had a chance to elect turned out to be the worst beaten man in the party's history in the electoral college, polling but 37 of the 531 votes, and losing for the first time in history four states of the hitherto impregnable and solid south.

The one ray of sunshine from their viewpoint was the fact that approximately 16,000,000 American voters expressed their preference for Governor Smith, as against 19,000,000 for Mr. Hoover. So, while Governor Smith was badly beaten in the electoral college, he was not badly beaten in the popular vote. On the contrary, he ran a surprisingly strong race. The 3,000,000 or 4,000,000 votes by which he lost could, if properly distributed, have elected him. The disconsolate party leaders kept their eyes on this fact today and hoped for the future. It is about all they have left.

Governor and Raskob Leaders.
Nominally, the leadership of the party still is vested in Governor Smith and the new blood that he brought into the fight with him. The most conspicuous of these is John J. Raskob, the "big business" executive, who was made national chairman by Governor Smith. This new leadership is northern. It is also largely Catholic, and representative of the Democratic masses of northern cities rather than the Protestant Democracy of the south.

The struggle to supplant this leadership, if it is to be changed, has already started. The premonitory rumble of it was heard yesterday from Texas where Governor Dan Moody laid Smith's defeat to Raskob, whom he characterized as "a cynical commercialist with an alcoholic complex."

The national chairman, Governor Moody said, had "no conception of the ideals of the south and west."

To many observers, this statement from the governor of Texas forecast the line of Democratic struggle immediately ahead—the dry, Protestant Democracy of the south and west against the wet and predominantly Catholic Democracy of the north and east.

Moody Statement Causes Comment.
This old line-up of the south and west was the coalition dreamed of by Woodrow Wilson. It was such a combination that gave him victory in 1916 when he lost New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, and still was elected by the votes of the south and west.

The Moody statement kicked up a lot of erid comment today around the well-known deserted Democratic headquarters here.

Friends of Governor Smith pointed out that Texas for the first time in her history had bolted the Democratic party and given her 20 electoral votes to a Republican. In contrast, they pointed to the fact that normally Republican Massachusetts and Rhode Island, alone of the northern and eastern states, were carried by Smith. And they interspersed their comment with some fiery remarks about party loyalty.

Governor at Helm.
They pointed out that had the south held firm to its traditional and historic Democratic loyalty, Governor Smith would have escaped the ignominy of having been the worst beaten Democrat electorally in history.

What part, if any, Governor Smith will play in the working out of this acrimonious controversy between the Democrats of the big wet cities of the north, and the dry Protestant Democrats of the south, only the future can tell. It is yet too early to say with any degree of definiteness, but he is still the party leader, nominally at least, and John J. Raskob is his friend.

would not have to work hard. Perhaps the president chooses to wait a while, look around, and, possibly, take a second elective term in the White House, eight years hence.

THE erection of a fine statue to the great Frenchman, Pasteur, honors Chicago. Excepting the Lincoln statue, none in Chicago is erected to so noble and useful a man.

DR. LEOPOLD STIEGLITZ, of New York, able scientist and brilliant diagnostician, brother of Prof. Julius Stieglitz, who teaches chemistry at Chicago university, says "We need a Pasteur to solve the cancer problem. That task calls for a man free of preconceived notions and prejudice; not a man of medical training, seeking to explain cancer according to old methods."

THE ignorant sometimes ask: "Of what real use is science?" Bismark taking five billion francs from France after the War of 1870, thought he had reached the limit. Dr. Stieglitz reminds you that the cash value to France of Pasteur's discoveries far exceeds five billion francs, to say nothing of his work against human disease and suffering.

WHAT Dr. Stieglitz says of Pasteur and the cancer problem encourages men of no special training. Clear thought and accurate observation work wonders. The inventor of the sewing machine did not know how to sew. Had he known, it would not have occurred to him to put the eye of the sewing machine needle in the point of the needle, rather than in the old place, farther from the point.

That one idea made the sewing machine possible.

MUSSOLINI, wiser than superficial critics in America, has only praises for moving pictures. Quite accurately, he classes them among the greatest agencies for the education of mankind. The other two are movable type and photography.

MUSSOLINI spoke at the dedication on the National Institute of Educational Cinematography in the Villa Falconieri, at Frascati. In the present stage of human development, with the Stone Age only 12,000 years behind us, moving pictures are by far the greatest force in education. In one hour they can teach the young, through the eyes, more than printed books or oral lessons could teach in a month.

MR. DURANT, automobile man and Wall Street shaker, is said unofficially, to have bet $1,000,000 on Hoover against $200,000 bet on Smith. Five to one were the longest odds on Hoover. Four years ago they were 10 to 1 on Coolidge. Remember, however, that the betting was 8 to 1 on Hughes, against Wilson.

ARNOLD ROTHSTEIN, "big New York gambler," died withholding the last name of his murderer. That is the code of gamblers, gun men, bootleggers and the underworld generally, a code that must encourage killings, among those that observe it, but useful for the law-abiding.

ROTHSTEIN, who had announced his intention "to quit the racket," did so after refusing to pay gambling losses of $340,000. "Welcher," the winning gamblers called him, and killed him as a warning to others. Rothstein said the game that fleeced him was dishonest.

Slated for Throne?

That Prince Amedeo of Savoy (above), eldest son of the Duke and Duchess of Aosta, will shortly find himself upon the throne of Italy, is the startling suggestion put forward by the newspaper Observateur, which purports to reveal plan of King Victor Emanuel to abdicate upon signing newly projected law making the grand Fascist council a part of the official government.

dressed by some in his first conference with newspaper men following his election as "Mr. President." Leased wires of news association representatives assigned to be with the president-elect until inauguration are operating today from a vacant house only 300 yards away.

Hoover has no plans for the next few days save to devote himself "to complete rest." Seeks Quiet and Solitude. Physically weary from his arduous campaigning, which took him twice across the continent and on several shorter trips, Hoover's mood shows for the first time, the degree to which the last six months have drawn upon his energy. Released from the stimulations of the battle, he found complete mental and nervous relaxation today.

The normal reaction of the let-down after so long a period of intense activity left him in the mood of wishing complete quiet and solitude. This wish has been emphatically stated to his aides and they were carrying it out. But it is clear that the quest for seclusion will be only temporary, for Hoover already looks forward to a holiday in wood and stream. Although no definite plans have been formulated, it is probable that he will venture forth on another fishing expedition in California waters within two weeks.

Hoover's first message to the nation following his election was a solemn expression of gratitude for the confidence reposed in him by the electorate, and an appeal to every citizen for "cooperation and unity of spirit and action for the common service of our country."

Plans Simple Inaugural. Mr. Hoover's plans are for a very quiet inaugural ceremony, he let it be known. He expressed the hope that it would be "one of the extremes in simplicity that we ever have had." "I think it would be more appropriate if we stick to the simple things in life," he said. In his first conference as president-elect with the newspaper correspondents, He intimated that the building of his cabinet was a matter that would not be disposed of for some time. "Any truthful declaration on the cabinet members will be announced by me," he said. "All other statements will be based on theory or conjecture."

SLAYER HOPPE IS HELD SANE BY ALIENISTS

Toledoan Goes to Death Chair on Friday.

CLEMENCY ASKED
Stay of Execution Also Sought From Court.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 8.—That Stanley Hoppe, Toledo, convicted child-murderer, is neither insane nor feeble-minded is the opinion submitted today to Governor Vic Donahey by three state alienists who examined Hoppe's mental condition this afternoon.

These alienists are Dr. William H. Pritchard, superintendent of the Columbus state hospital; Dr. E. J. Emerick, director of the state juvenile research bureau, and Dr. F. L. Keiser, superintendent of the state institution for feeble-minded, all of Columbus.

The examination was conducted at Ohio penitentiary where Hoppe is a prisoner on murderers' row awaiting his scheduled electrocution tomorrow night.

Not Feeble-minded.
Governor Donahey selected these alienists to examine Hoppe after Attorney Eldon H. Young, Toledo, counsel for Hoppe, late yesterday asked the governor to arrange for the examination.

"We do not find in this man (Hoppe) any evidence of either insanity or feeble-mindedness," the alienists declared jointly in a report submitted to the governor shortly before noon. "We, therefore, are of the opinion that he is sane at this time."

The governor, it was announced, turned this report over to the state clemency board which is scheduled to conduct a hearing this afternoon relative to Attorney Young's application for clemency for Hoppe on the ground of insanity.

Awaits Board's Action.
Donahey, it was stated, will await the action of the clemency board indicating whether he will grant Hoppe any executive clemency.

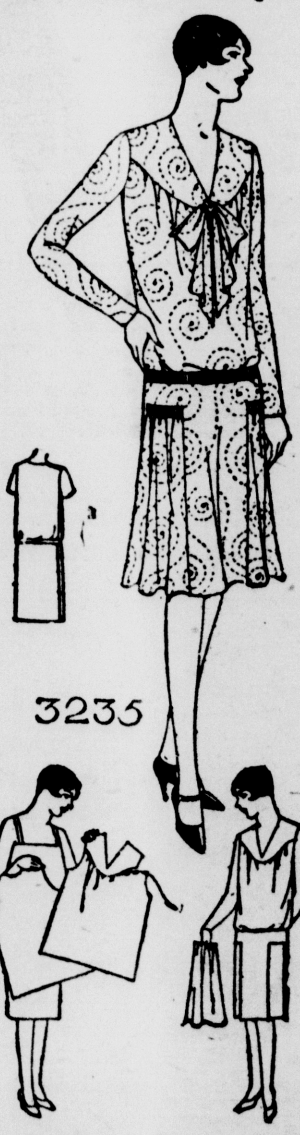

In the meantime, the Ohio supreme court had announced no decision relative to Attorney Young's latest application for a stay of execution for Hoppe.

sult of the vote in Columbiana county. The Republican majorities far exceeded my fondest expectations. While many factors contributed to the result, I am convinced that the chief reason for our phenomenal success was the unusual activity of the organized Republican workers in every city, village and township of this county. Never in my political experience have I known such co-operation and unselfish expenditure of time and energy in behalf of the party. I wish to thank all members of the organization as well as the loyal volunteer workers for their splendid support. Especial praise is due to the Republican women workers of the county. Without their aid the majorities would have been much smaller.

"I am hoping that the organizations formed by the Republican women of this county, will not disband and abandon their activity, but will become permanent organizations. There will be work for them during the next two years, and they will be trained soldiers at the time of the next battle. I appreciate more than I can convey, the splendid co-operation of each group of my organization. They have certainly demonstrated that 'in union there is strength.'"

BILLY SUNDAY IS HAPPY OVER ELECTION OF HOOVER

SAYS SIDEWALK CURLED UP AND HIT GOV. SMITH

G. O. P. Carries Eight States Evangelist Visited.

LAUDS DRY LAW

Large Crowd Hears Revivalist in Big Tabernacle.

"God still reigns and the thirteenth amendment remains in the constitution; the flag still waves over prohibition; the states have refused to put on aprons to become bartenders; the sidewalks of New York curled up and hit 'A' in the back," declared Billy Sunday, in appraising the national election of Tuesday at the outset of his discourse in the big tabernacle at Second and Washington streets last night. His pertinent affirmation followed a united thanksgiving singing of "America" by the large audience that filled the auditorium.

"Just before I came to East Liverpool I was in Virginia, North Carolina, Delaware, New Jersey, Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana and Pennsylvania, and was connected with all the south by radio from Washington, D. C., on Friday night and all of the state visited went Republican," the evangelist said. "The landslide result came because of prohibition religion, the tariff and the farm. The southland is irrevocably dry. Religion in many sections had its effect. The loose views of the losers on the tariff frightened business men, while voters generally thought a man born and reared on a farm knew more about its welfare than one who had spent his entire life in a metropolitan center. Finally, the women, almost as a unit, voted as they were expected to do as did others of the new voters who throughout the campaign had been anigma to the politicians. Do not forget that God had a hand in what has just occurred. Righteousness is destined to prevail and you do well to rejoice."

Telegram From Daughter. From their daughter, Helen, now the wife of a Michigan editor, it was later disclosed by Mrs. Sunday, was received during the day a telegram congratulating them on the outcome of the vote in the south.

"The message thrilled us," she said, quoting it: "Your hard work in Virginia brought glorious results. Hurrah for Hoover!"

Rejoice to the imminent celebration of the political victory was given by Robert Matthews, the pianist of the party, who remaining in his Kentucky home to vote, had arrived during the night and was substituting for Homer Rodeheaver, absent for a day in Cleveland.

Because Rodeheaver had been permitted by Mr. Sunday to assist in a service in the City Mission of Cleveland carried on by George Sowreide, a friend of both for years, in which Sergeant York, the Tennessee World war hero was also taking part, Matthews was leading the choir. He contributed much drollery by his captivated, southern drawl. Previously referred to by Mr. Sunday as a "Kentucky Democrat who had voted for Hoover," Matthews said: "The time has come when principle and not party must direct our votes. Mr. Sunday is too modest to tell any great part which he had in bringing about the result. They revere him in the southland. There a body of women keep flowers on a grave constantly in memory of his father, a Civil war veteran, who lost his life in that sanguinary struggle but his body is numbered with the unknown soldiers and has never been recovered. Particularly in Virginia where he spoke in the leading cities was he responsible for much of the outcome."

Delivers Two Sermons.

Then followed the singing of "America" with the second stanza thereof being stressed as a prayer of thanksgiving.

With the meeting of the prayer meeting committee of the co-operating churches on the platform after the afternoon sermon by Mr. Sunday, the formal organization of a body of 200 personal workers following the night session and the conference of party members and local residents, a coordination of all campaign plans was effected.

Added to all of this the evangelist delivered two of the outstanding sermons in his large repertoire of discourses and the initial outside delegation visited the tabernacle.

Because of the night services, prayer meetings in homes will be held in the morning during the campaign. They will continue for one-half hour from 10 o'clock. The first district meeting will be held in the First Baptist church on Friday morning. Mrs. Sunday will be present on this occasion and at other district gatherings later.

Plan Personal Work.

With four ministers assigned to each of the four main sections of seats and others to the platform and personal workers laboring directly under them, the auditorium will be combed in efforts to single out and aid those without the kingdom. These efforts are to be supplemented by even greater outside activities in shop, office and factory meetings and personal contact anywhere.

"The coming forward and giving a hand to Mr. Sunday is not conversion in itself," observed Miss Florence Kinney in her talk to the personal workers last night. "But it is a public confession of the renewing of vows or the initial taking of them with the end of squaring one's life to Christly ideals and paving the continued way to regeneration and salvation. Let the persons you accept know you are

BILLY SUNDAY HITTING TARGET

The practice of snaring men and getting alimony from them is as much a career for some women as bootlegging and prostitution by others.

If Jesus Christ were here I should introduce him as the one who has made it possible to preach the gospel for all of the years I have been doing so.

O God, for Shakespeare to write the long tragedy of clothes in man's history.

A look towards sin is as dangerous as the leap into it.

Persons coming to this country to undermine honest labor and flout our ideals should be sent back to their native countries.

Wrinkled faces of fathers and mothers tell their children of the care, solicitation and anxiety they had in their education and rearing.

The modern girl is what she is because of the worship of material things.

So vile were Sodom and Gomorrah that man has since been permitted to recognize and see the spot on which these cities stood.

Persons cornering markets and holding prices beyond the ability of people to pay are stealing.

Every man and woman will be weighed in the same balance as those by which King Belshazzar was.

The best things in the world are not made with hands or bought with money.

When you accept Christ your sins are blotted out for righteousness is imputed to you by justification, rendering you a child of God. Without genuine personal experience religion is but a sham.

Of 115,000,000 people in America, 77,000,000 are not church members.

If I preached like some preachers I would not be worth any more than they are.

God will not hear prayer from persons who continue to talk about neighbors.

If you read fiction in as slipshod a manner as you read the Bible you will remember and assimilate little of its plot.

There are a few persons in every church who think they should run it.

The Pharisees thought themselves right but they were the greatest liars this side of hell.

The Roman soldiers would have never crucified Jesus but for the lies of the Pharisees.

Many are religious at Easter time who, if hitched to a prayer meeting, would not pull a pound.

If your talk does not conform to your life it does not amount to much.

The Pharisee thanked God that he was not like other men to which I say Amen.

vitality interested in his or her spiritual welfare."

"Until the church members feel the burden of the concern for the souls of those about them the revival will not start," said Albert Peterson, party advance man, in his directions to the workers. "Once you get this concern you will experience the greatest joy possible to the human unit in having people accept Christ."

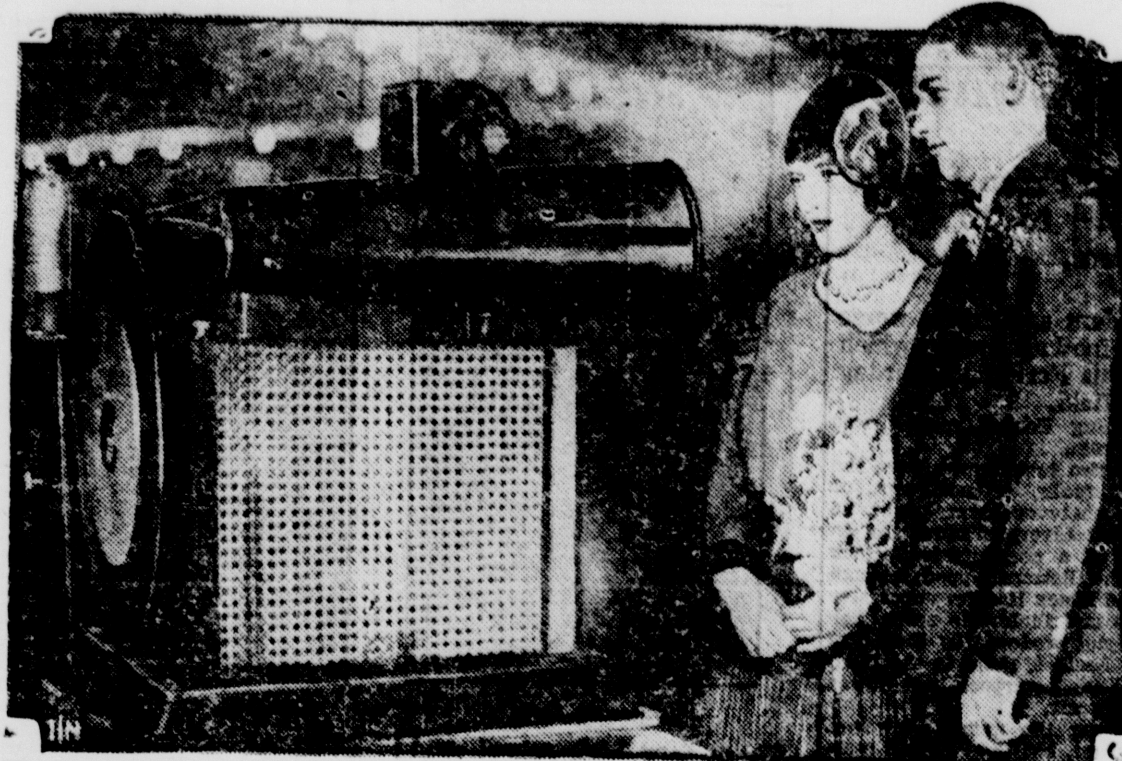

Hear Reports on Prayer Meetings. "Do not go to any one without first in prayer asking God to work through you," suggested the Rev. J. B. Lawler, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who is chairman of the prayer meeting committee. At his direction the various workers, headed by the designated pastors, took their tabernacle stations where in brief prayer services the initial meeting which is to be repeated each Wednesday night after the regular service was concluded.

During the afternoon Mrs. F. A. Dean made reports for the prayer meeting committee of which she is the chairman, while her husband is convalescing from illness at home. "We hope that Dr. Dean shall shortly be able to resume his activity with us," declared Miss Kinney during her talk to the assembled members. The Rev. W. T. Mcendis, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, for the executive committee, explained the status of the campaign preliminary to the night sermon. Twice, afternoon and evening, the audience was treated to trio singing by the unattached male members of the evangelistic party, Matthews, Peterson and Building Custodian Willis Locke, with Miss Kinney accompanying them. "Only when Rody is away are we permitted to thus function," explained Matthews. They sang "Since I Lost My Sins" and "We'll Understand It Better By and By."

The invocations of the afternoon and evening were respectively made by the Rev. W. H. Baker, pastor of the First Church of Christ, of this city, and the Rev. C. W. Cochran, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Midland, Pa.

Flowers for Evangelist. Accompanying them to the platform were two young girls, Emma May Hausher and Jean Crichton, who, between them carried a huge basket of pink and white chrysanthemums which were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Sunday.

Both graciously accepted the remembrance. Mrs. Sunday reminded the audience that she and her husband had been married for 40 years and that when she was a bride: "I carried my wedding bouquet to Pitts- burgh where Mr. Sunday was then playing ball." Later in his sermon the evangelist also referred to his marriage by the incisive assertion: "I have the same wife I started with. That's going some these days!" Together the double reference without in any way having been premeditated made a powerful object lesson of matrimony as it was intended to be in pointed contrast to prevalent divorce which the evangelist later attacked with all his old time fervency.

The choir not to be outdone in the initial accomplishments of the day began singing the "Halleluiah Chorus" and learned a new song: "I Shall Not Be Moved."

Hits Sex Plays.

Sins contributing to and culminating in the great feast of Belshazzar, Babylonian king, enlisted the attention of Mr. Sunday during the night discourse and after a powerful description of the ancient event in all of its Oriental splendor and appointments he listed them severally under evils which the Ten Commandments have been given to prevent.

In turn the worship of idols in its modern form of money and power, the failure to honor parents and keep holy God's day, profanity, murder, theft, impurity and covetousness came in for their merited disclosure by recognizable diagnosis and censure.

Sex plays and pictures, dancing trial marriages, women holding up men for alimony, divorce in general, frivolity of thoughtless young folk, extortionate prices by cornering markets, entrance into the country of persons not in accord with its ideals and the double standard were hit and hit hard.

"You are the best looking crowd I have seen outside of Kentucky," observed Mr. Matthews as he introduced to the people the big delegation from the First Presbyterian church of Midland, Pa. The church's choir, some 25 in number, came to the platform and sang the anthem, "I Will Love Thee, O Lord," directed by their accompanist, Mrs. L. E. Stewart. The singers were generously applauded.

Evangelist Refers to Women's Styles. "There is no more question of morality involved in the bobbing of women's hair than there is for me to appear before you with a smooth face rather than permit a lace curtain to cover it," he said. He averred he did not like the present style of women's hats. "The Goldsborough hats of other days with ostrich feathers in them is my idea of superior feminine headgear. That's class, beauty," he observed.

"And short dresses are much better for girls and women than those long, unsightly skirts they used to affect," he commented, "but they should not be so high as to permit the sun to burn the knees."

"Girls and women these days are constantly teetering on the edge of indecency," he went on. "There is an increasing intimacy between sexes in adolescent years with both at fault. Women permit liberties today under the guise of cleverness which would not have been thought possible in the past. No nation can rise on a lower standard of womanhood."

"How much do you weigh on the profanity commandment?" he asked. "When a man swears he tags himself."

"Your own faults stand out as glaringly as the gossip you essay to tell," he said regarding false witnessing.

Companionate Marriage "Bunk." "If God has a seat closer than any other to him in glory it is for the woman who, knowing that her husband is untrue to her, lives on in the sorrow and pain of it all to an untimely end rather than bring scandal to the family and children," he declared in discussing impurity.

Judge Ben Lindsey's companionate marriage he characterized as bunk and barnyard tendencies on a plane with animals. "Separations are sometimes necessary, but all the four gospels oppose remarriage," he thundered. "If you court a wife after marriage as you did before you need never fear divorce. Continue to give her gundrops and hearts with love messages on them."

He suggested none need to worry about another's automobile. "A Ford or Chevrolet will get you anywhere and won't cost as much as a Cadillac when new parts are necessary," he said.

Finally discussing care for one's own he disclosed words he wished for an epitaph which concluded with "Bill, he was good to his family."

His text was from Daniel: "Thou Art Weighed and Found Wanting."

Crowd at Afternoon Service. In the afternoon his theme was "True Religion Not a Sham Substitute." It was based on the two prayers of the Pharisee and Publican.

The superior estimate of himself on the part of the Pharisee and the tendency of the sect without religion to want to run the church of the day and their followers in these days were graphically portrayed. The opposite humility of the Publican, his recognition of his sinfulness in inferiority was lifted to plane of emulation in that those who are humble eventually come to their own.

The failure of the church to realize its purpose and do that for which it has been formed came in for full arraignment.

Afternoon services of all of Mr. Sunday's campaign are particularly those that church members and especially officers in them should attend.

Both post-noon assemblages have been well attended.

High Gridders Hope To Break Martins Ferry's Victory String

Face Tough Assignment In Dedication Contest

Ferrians Have Won Five Straight From Locals, Escaping Last Year With 14 to 13 Conquest Over Potters.

Win, lose or draw, Ceramic City gridders can do no worse than five other East Liverpool high school football squads which have preceded them when they battle Martins Ferry in Saturday afternoon's dedication contest at Patterson field.

In other words, the Blue and White has been defeated in five successive games since 1913. The outcome of games before that, if there were any, is relatively unimportant. The record covering the last 5 years is sufficient to indicate that a victory over Martins Ferry eleven especially on the occasion of the dedication of the school's new athletic stadium, would be something to shout about.

Anything else but a victory Saturday will be a disappointment. That's the way the squad feels about it. Moral victories may be something to provide temporary satisfaction, but the records, as time goes on, show only the actual facts.

Martins Ferry was two touchdowns better than Bellaire a week ago. Bellaire left East Liverpool with a 12 to 6 conquest but for pure ability at

POTTERS CLOSE TO VICTORY IN 1927

EAST LIVERPOOL and Martins Ferry played in 1913. Three seasons lapsed before their next meeting. They battled again in 1916 and in 1917. They renewed grid warfare in 1922 and then suspended until last year when they grappled again.

Martins Ferry hung a 35 to 0 "shanty" on the Potters' grid "eyes" in their first meeting, but got off with only a 13 to 7 conquest in the second. East Liverpool scored a touchdown in the third session, but it wasn't much in comparison to the Ferrians' 31 points. The down river combine blanked the locals, 25 to 0, in 1922, but last year had the narrowest squeak of all.

The Hurstmen, playing on Ferry field in 1927, were just as good as Martins Ferry in the matter of touchdowns, each eleven scoring twice. But Ferry booted both points after their touchdowns; the locals did not and, as a result, that game went down as a loss.

FERRIANS FILL 15-COACH SPECIAL

THE fact that the gridiron popularity of Martins Ferry also regards the approaching conflict as something to get excited over is indicated by preparations there for a migration that will just about leave the town empty Saturday.

The number of signatures obtained at ticket agencies in the Ferry town have assured a 15-coach special train over the Pennsylvania railroad. On the train will be the high school band, rated among the best in the village. The band is riding free and because of this fact it was necessary to dispose of at least 650 tickets on the special. The tickets, it is understood, were quickly grabbed up.

Mount's Hopes For Conference Win Hit Hard

Ineligibility and Injuries Cripple Thorpe's Squad.

ALLIANCE, Nov. 8.—Injuries and ineligibility rules have cut a wide swath in the Mount hopes for another Ohio Conference win against Ohio Northern at Alliance, Saturday.

A gridiron career for Henry K. Yagel, Jr. (Sale), one of Coach John M. Thorpe's sophomore linemen, was cut short when he sustained a fractured pelvis in an automobile accident last Saturday. Lorin Lindamood (Alliance), center, is not fully recovered from a shoulder injury received in the Oberlin game two weeks ago, and Harry Lawrence (Elyria), guard, is another regular who is favoring an injured hand.

Walter Simpson (Alliance), end, and Ned Wells (Canton), tackle, are both on the ineligible list because of grades. Kenneth Sweet (Akron), end, and Lewis Shumaker (Alliance), guard, both regular varsity men are on the border line and may be declared ineligible for the Ohio Northern game.

RAINY WEATHER SLOWS PURDUE

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 8.—Bad weather has retarded Purdue's training for Northwestern this week. Brown, the sophomore discovery, out more or less all season with injuries, has again reported for duty.

SPEARS SEEKING NEW MATERIAL

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 8.—Forced by an appalling injury, Coach Doc Spears has spent this week trying out new material to hurl into the breach against Indiana Saturday. Lloyd Westin, third string fullback, is being groomed in Nagurski's place.

FROSTY PETERS AT QUARTERBACK

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 8.—Frosty Peters is working at quarter in the Illinois lineup and probably will be used there against Butler Saturday. The Illini are pointing for Chicago a week hence, although they do not regard Butler as a "set up."

While unemployment in Great Britain is growing its August exports of manufactured goods were $12,500,000 greater than a year ago.

Share Captaincy of 1928 High School Football Squad

Witherow, End.

Mackall, Quarterback.

Feit, End and Halfback.

Clark, Tackle and Fullback.

These four high school gridders have, at one time or another during the present season, been captains, or acting captains as the case may be, of the 1928 Ceramic City football squad.

Coach J. E. Hurst has distributed the honors of leading the eleven on the field among these veterans, in the absence of a regular captain.

Dave Anderson, end on last year's squad, was elected to the captaincy at the close of the 1927 campaign, but Anderson was married during the summer and withdrew from school.

While Mackall, who calls the signals for the Blue and White, has held the captaincy most of the time during the present season, the job also has been allocated at various times to Bob Witherow, end, "Red" Clark, tackle and halfback, and Dave Feit, end and halfback.

This quartet is expected to figure prominently in the Martins Ferry battle here Saturday afternoon.

Tom Loughran Is Best Bet of Lot Says Dempsey

Would Knock Paulino Out, Former Champ Believes.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Tommy Loughran probably is the greatest fighter in the world. Jack Sharkey is one of his abiding mysteries and Paulino neither can punch nor "take" it, according to the views aired today by Mr. Will H. Dempsey, the well known man out of work. Will, himself, is confronted with one of life's little problems, in other words, should he or should he not? It is decisions like this that wracks men's souls.

Anyhow, if the boy friend does happen to find himself in there swinging from the bargain basement next summer, his target is likely to be supplied by one of the three gentlemen mentioned; so his comment on them are not without significance. Of particular pertinence is his estimate of Paulino in view of the fact this worthy's name has been coupled with Will's in a most compromising way.

May Fight Next Year. They say this pair is likely to become rather intimate, and strictly in public, at that, before the end of the 1929 outdoor season.

If this is so, it is evident that Will not only saw the senior coming. He must have seen him before he started. When did he start? All I can tell you is when the senior will stop and, at that, I have had to take Will's word for it. He says it will be before the fifteenth round if the senior ever gets in there with Loughran.

"They say Loughran can't hit but, for my chin, he can punch with Paulino any night," said the great man. "Loughran has too much variety of attack for a guy like that and, besides, he'll out-tough him. I'm convinced, after watching the Von Porat fight, that Paulino can't take it and, if he can't do that, what has he? Yes sir, the pauper's bank balance—nothing. I believe Loughran would knock him out inside of 15 rounds."

Has Improved Right. Tommy seems to have more on the ball than any other contender. He's smart, fast, a fine left hand, his right is carrying more authority than it did last year and he's really tough. "Sharkey, as everybody knows, had a lot of stuff a year and a half ago. He looked like a cinch to be the challenger last year. Why he wasn't, is a question somebody else will have to answer. Anyway, it's up to him to fight his way back and I think Von Porat would be a good shot for him early this winter."

"How about myself? I've quit trying to answer that question."

LIGHT HEAVIES CLASH AT GARDEN

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—William T. Tilden, former tennis champion of the universe, is now barred from amateur competition in the 35 tennis-playing nations of the world, according to the current issue of the "official bulletin" of the United States Lawn Tennis association. The action of the U. S. L. T. A. in barring "Big Bill" was followed by the International Lawn Tennis Federation.

WILDCATS PRAY FOR DRY FIELD

Evers Will be Real Manager Of Boston Braves Next Year

Will Handle Reins as Aide to Judge Fuchs; Hornsby Goes to Bruins for Five Players and Big Wad of Cash.

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Johnny Evers, fiery second baseman of the Boston Braves in 1914 when the Braves won the National league pennant and the world's championship, will be the real manager of the Braves next season.

In confirming the trade of Manager Rogers Hornsby to the Chicago Cubs, Judge Emil Fuchs, president of the Braves, announced that he personally would manage the team and that Evers would be the assistant manager. But Judge Fuchs has had no experience as a manager and Evers, it is believed, will be the real pilot. The "little trojan," still the idol of Boston fans, knows his National league baseball inside out.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—The dream of half a million Chicago baseball fans—"Rogers Hornsby in a Cubs uniform"—today was an electrifying reality. This news, vitally more important to hundreds than the election of a president, was confirmed today by William Veeck, president of the local National league club.

HAWKEYES OFF FOR COLUMBUS

IOWA CITY, Ia., Nov. 8.—Hawkeye players were to leave here today for Columbus, O., where the most important conference clash of Saturday will be played. The Hawks are confident of victory.

Wooster Squad Re-Built for Case and Akron

Facing Hard Battle With Scientists in Cleveland.

WOOSTER, Nov. 8.—Wooster college's football team is going thru a period of reconstruction this week in preparation for the coming hard games with Case at Cleveland and Akron university, here.

Wooster entered the Ohio Wesleyan game last Saturday in a crippled condition with many of the regulars injured, and came out badly battered. Coach L. C. Boles is spending this week trying to reconstruct his weakened team so that it will be in condition to face the last two teams on the schedule. Case showed exceptional strength last Saturday in holding the strong Purdue university team to 13 to 0. From all indications Wooster is due for a hard battle when she meets the Scientists on Van Horn field in Cleveland.

CHICAGO CENTER ON INJURED LIST

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—It appeared today that Ken Small, star Chicago center, would be lost to the Maroons for both the Wisconsin and Illinois games as a result of injuries sustained in scrimmage.

Pollock, Morris Seek K. O.

Renew Fistic Feud Monday in Wellsville Ring.

Glove feud between Harry Morris, Steubenville, and Johnny Pollock, Youngstown, launched less than two weeks ago in the city hall ring, Wellsville, under auspices of the Valley A. C., will be renewed Monday night when the pair battle again in their second meeting.

The bout went six rounds, although there were times, whether fans knew it or not, that it was perilously close to being brought to an end before that.

Morris won on points in the six-round route. Whether he can repeat the feat with the two extra cantos added is something else again. In fact, many who saw the pair belaboring each other in the Wellsville ring are inclined to think not, inasmuch as Pollock appeared to be coming along stronger than his Steubenville opponent at the end of the fight.

Morris punched Pollock around pretty lively in the opening sessions but his snap was gone toward the close and he was kept fairly busy warding off the rushes of the Youngstown boy.

While the two boxers, who will come in at 130 pounds for this battle, might battle to a stand-off for eight rounds, depending on the efficiency of their defenses, there are a few who lean to the belief that the bout will end in a knockout.

Morris and Pollock fight one of the eight-rounders arranged for the double wind-up. Jackie Powers, Youngstown flyweight, meets George Tomosky, Pittsburgh, in the other.

Billiards

White won his three-cushion billiard match from Long last night at the Club Billiard parlors by one of the most decisive scores registered in the tournament to date. The final count was 35 to 9.

Bergner and Wallace are scheduled to play tonight.

Seven hours did E. C. Segar, famous artist, battle off Point Magu, Cal., before he succeeded in landing the six feet of man-eating anchovy shown in the picture. ANNIE LAURIE'S TIMELY ADVICE

Dear Annie Laurie:
I am in my early teens and care a lot for a boy one year my senior. He also seemed to care for me until lately. About a month ago he left on a two-week vacation and he called me up the night before he left. He told me he would write. Well, he did write and I answered. Then he sent a card telling me he was going to another state and would write to me from there, but I haven't heard from him. About a week ago he returned and told my girl friend he would call me up but he hasn't called me yet. Should I call him up or send him a friendly note asking him what is the matter?

BLUE EYES: The young man was probably enjoying a well-earned vacation. Blue Eyes, and had other things to think about besides writing letters. I think you should wait until you see him or hear from him, but don't let him get the idea you are "trumping" after him. That will be the surest way of losing his friendship.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am a girl in my late teens and am asking your advice.

I met a man about six weeks ago. He is good looking, dresses well and has lots of money. He has taken my girl friend and I out many times and we have had a wonderful time. He has asked me to go out with him alone many times. I went out with him Sunday night alone. He offered me a beautiful wrist watch. He wanted me to try it on and I allowed him to put it on. I wore it all evening. When he was leaving I remembered the watch. I took it off and handed it to him. He took it and put it back on my wrist. I asked me to wear it always. He went away and I have received many gifts since then, but no letters.

What shall I do? I would like to return the watch and other gifts. FRIGHTENED BROWN EYES: By all means return the gifts immediately. You were a very foolish girl in the first place to accept them, my dear.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
A young lady. They quarrel. B comes along and begins taking the young lady out. After five months A comes to B and says the young lady likes him (A) and for B to stop going with her. B likes the young lady and does not want to give her up, but sooner than fight he (B) is willing. B tells the young lady she admits that she really likes A but would not go out with him again, even if B stops taking her out.

What is B to do? He gave A his promise that he would stop if the young lady admitted she liked A.

ANXIOUS: I think the three of you are very foolish. Neither A nor B is engaged to the young lady, and if she prefers the company of B, A should not be so selfish as to try to exact such a promise from B. If the young lady finds pleasure in B's company, why should she not go out with him? Particularly as she and A are not friendly.

Because English drivers are developing their "road sense" the number of automobile accidents in their country is decreasing.

Foot pontoons have been added to the equipment of Austrian soldiers who patrol along the Danube river so that they may walk on the water.

Gas in Stomach Hurts the Heart

Thousands of Cases of Heart Failure Are Caused by Acute Indigestion.

Gas pressure from sour, acid, upset stomach is not only nauseating and highly uncomfortable but some day it may prove fatal.

When your meals are followed by bloating, a feeling of fullness or pressure, shortness of breath and pains around the heart, you may be sure that the acid condition of your stomach is producing a GAS that is pushing upwards and crowding your heart. That's the reason for the shortness of breath and sharp, shooting pains.

Whether young or old, the presence of stomach gas is truly serious and should always be given prompt and careful attention.

To quickly drive out gas, cleanse and sweeten the stomach, neutralize the acidity—nothing is better than the daily or "as needed" use of ordinary Bisurated Magnesia. It gives almost instant relief.

Mathew's Med. Store or any good druggist can supply Bisurated Magnesia, in powder or tablet form.

You run no risk of loss for every druggist may sell it with the distinct understanding that unless its use gives complete satisfaction the small cost will be promptly returned.

Now You Can Banish Pimples In Few Days

Costs But a Few Cents to Have Clean, Clear Skin You'll Be Proud Of.

No matter how many things you have tried to rid yourself of pimples and blackheads or how inexpensive the treatments have been you are not doing yourself justice until you get a 35 cent box of Peterson's Ointment and give it a chance to free your skin from all blemishes and make it soft, velvety and good to look upon.

Mrs. Minnie Jones of Louisville writes: "Peterson's Ointment sure is fine for blackheads. My face was covered with them, but after using the ointment they are all gone."

And in a letter about pimples, Miss Genevieve Linehan of Bradford, Mass., writes: "I had tried most every kind of ointment for pimples, but found none as good as Peterson's Ointment. I am on my first box and my face is nearly clear. I am very pleased with it."

Druggists everywhere sell Peterson's Ointment. It clears the skin, 35 cents a box.

LEADS SCHOOL PIANO CONTEST

Pleasant Heights Building Seeks Dawson Award.

The Pleasant Heights building continues to lead the contest among schools for the piano which will be awarded by the Olen H. Dawson Music store, on January 31.

Less than 55 votes separate five schools. One vote is allowed for each ten-cent purchase made at the store. These votes may be deposited in boxes which have been arranged for each school.

Standing of the 28 schools participating in the contest:

First, Pleasant Heights; second, Third street; third, Maplewood; fourth, Neville; fifth, Garfield; sixth, High school; seventh, Central; eighth, Chester Central; ninth, Grant street; tenth, Sixth street; eleventh, Lincoln; twelfth, Horace Mann; thirteenth, St. Aloysius; fourteenth, Fourth street; fifteenth, Chester high; sixteenth, West End; seventeenth, Washington; eighteenth, McKinley; nineteenth, Wells high; twentieth, Klondyke; twenty-first, Glenmoor; twenty-second, Walkers; twenty-third, Sacred Heart; twenty-fourth, Trentvale; twenty-fifth, Chester Washington; twenty-sixth, Gardendale; twenty-seventh, Dixonville; twenty-eighth, La Croft.

By making a fitting for a window strap in one part instead of two, thus using three screws instead of six, one English railway expects to save several thousands of dollars a year.

One Spoonful Would Fill A Market Basket!

HERE IS a secret for the benefit of one's inner system. There is as much good to a single spoon of plain pepsin syrup as in a whole basket of fresh vegetables!

And the test is at present free. Children are healthier and happier, and elderly people have a far easier time where this ideal combination of laxative herbs and pure pepsin is fully appreciated.

Dr. Caldwell first used this innocent means of keeping the bowels free from accumulated waste back in 1875. To day, you couldn't find a druggist without this famous prescription, all put up and directions enclosed. Try it, and you'll know why!

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

If you have a thumping in your head, dizzy spells, shortness of breath, lack of strength and endurance and are extremely nervous, you have symptoms of high blood pressure—a serious ailment that should have immediate attention.

High blood pressure causes much physical discomfort and if permitted to continue, is extremely dangerous. It should be checked at the earliest possible moment.

Thanks to a physician's prescription, high blood pressure may be reduced quickly and easily. Simply go to your nearest drug store and get a bottle of Norm. Norm is a palliative in cases of high blood pressure. A few days' use should show a marked improvement in your condition. The thumping and pounding in your head should disappear and as the blood pressure is reduced the dizzy spells should become less and less frequent and you should find you are much stronger, have more endurance with a real joy in living.

Norma is a scientific formula, is not a laxative, is easy and pleasant to take and often only a few days' use is very helpful.

Thrilling story of love of two girls for the same man

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

"Sure," he went on, smiling at her benevolently. "I know how much a girl needs to get along when she ain't living home. You told me you was away from your folks, didn't you?"

She nodded.

"Yeh, thirty a week, that's what I pay, and if you need a little extra sometimes, you know where to come. I like to treat everybody right. Nobody ever said Harvey Gartz was stingy. I got a brother in the ladies' silk lingerie line—a few samples now and then. And hats! Say—I got a line of fancy fells—come out and see. You pick out one you like—"

"But—" Daphne began, "but—"

He brushed aside her shyness with a large, fatherly gesture. "No ceremony. Come. I want to show you my French felt with the ribbon fancy. It would look good on you in purple."

He led the way and she followed, lagging behind, not knowing what to do. He was middle aged, and he looked so kind . . . and still . . .

"Here, you put on the purple one yourself. A little more to the right, over the eyes. Maybe I could use you for a model sometime. Look up at me—so!"

She looked up—just in time to dodge his pale lips and shield her face with her hands. She felt his kiss, wet and loathsome on her neck.

"How could you!" she cried angrily, "how could you do such a thing?" Her strong, slender hand shot out, but he drew back quickly, more agile than seemed possible for one of his weight and years.

"See here," he panted, "is that any way to act? When I offer you honest work, that you should hit at me. Do you want to get arrested?" He reached for her again, but she ducked and ran, knocked over a chair, found the door somehow, and the stairs. She had gained the street and walked a block in the cool life-giving air before she remembered the little red purse . . . she had left it on Gartz's desk.

Her last five dollars was in it, there was no choice, she had to go back.

The wizened elevator man was still there. "Would you mind going up to the fifth floor and getting a red purse I left by mistake in Mr. Gartz's office?"

"I'll take you up, and you get it," he suggested. "I don't like foolin' around strange purses—"

"No—oh please—please get it for me. I'll give you fifty cents if you will—"

"Well—" he agreed without enthusiasm.

Daphne waited. There was the squeaking and jangling of the elevator, the bang of doors opening and closing upstairs. The sickly smell of the refuse from the market came through the openwork iron door from the elevator shaft, nauseating her. She waited in an agony of suspense and loathing.

After a while the car came back, the little old man shook his head. "Everybody's gone," he said. "I can't get in. The janitor could mebbe, but he wouldn't let nobody take nuthin' out—"

"I'll come back in the morning at eight," she said.

"Will you be here then?"

He nodded. "S'long."

She had no money for dinner, and no carfare. "Well, I don't feel like eating anyway," she thought philosophically, "and the walk will do me good . . . oh wasn't I the fool to go back there for the job—I knew he was horrid—I just knew it—"

It was pleasant walking in the cool of the early evening. At least the first half hour of it was pleasant. But it was such a long walk, up and down so many hills, and the pavement was so hard . . .

It was half past seven when she dragged herself up the front stairs, and groped her way down the dark hall to her room.

She flung herself on the couch to rest a moment, and woke at dawn, her best dress rumpled, her head throbbing, her body stiff with cold.

She thought of borrowing five cents from Mrs. Hinckle or one of the roomers, but no one was astir but the old lady, sipping her coffee at the kitchen table, and she sighed heavily as Daphne entered. "Ach—Gott!" She did not look up. Her wrinkled old face looked stern and sad. What if she didn't have the money either? What if there wouldn't be the money to pay for next month's rent . . .

Daphne tiptoed back to her room, put on her hat and coat and began the long walk downtown. Twice automobiles stopped and men called to her, "Want to ride?"

They looked kindly and kindly enough. But so did Gartz! Daphne was taking no more chances. She walked doggedly on.

The little elevator man was waiting with the purse when she reached the building. "I thought you was going to be here at eight!"

"I guess I'm late," Daphne murmured. "Thank you so much."

"Well—say—I thought you promised—" he began in a querulous, cracked voice, full of disappointment.

"Oh—of course!" Daphne remembered the fifty cents she had promised. With a smile for the little old fellow she reached in the purse. "Why—why?" she faltered.

"Is anything wrong?" he asked anxiously.

"Let me—sit down—" she whispered, feeling her knees give way beneath her. He gave her his stool in the elevator and watched her with growing concern.

"Say, you're sick!" he decided.

"No—no—not sick—"

"Well then—you've lost some money out of that there purse. Say—of you think I took anythin'—" He bristled with outraged pride.

"Oh no, no—" She laughed through the tears that she couldn't wink away. "Of course not—here!" She handed him the fifty cents she had promised.

"Thank!" He beamed on her. "That's real nice of you. Money don't come too easy 'round here."

"No," she smiled back, "it doesn't."

"Goodbye!" he called after her. "Take care of yer-self!"

She was still smiling, a little crooked smile, when she found her old seat in the employment office.

"You have a hole in your stocking!" the girl next to her volunteered.

Daphne looked down at it without much interest. "It doesn't matter," she said.

Nothing mattered very much. Her five dollars was gone. She discovered the loss when she gave the elevator man the promised half dollar. The red purse held five cents now. Five cents and two postage stamps and a powder puff.

CHAPTER 9.

Had Gartz taken the five dollars to punish her, or make her come back to claim it? Or the black-satin girl could it have been she? Daphne wondered, speculating upon the possibilities as she might have if it had been someone else's purse, some other girl's hard luck. Perhaps the money fell out earlier in the day . . . but it didn't matter . . . she didn't care very much.

"I'm glad I gave him the fifty cents, poor old fellow!" she thought with a faint glow of satisfaction, remembering the elevator-man's pleasure. "It'll make a difference to him. I know he didn't take the money anyway—"

"You could ink that place on your heel so the hole wouldn't show so much," the girl next to her said, pointing to the gaping hole in Daphne's stocking again. "I used to ink my leg when I got holes in black stockings. I always wear beige now—beige are better—a run hardly shows."

"But there's no beige ink!" Daphne giggled. Beige ink! What a crazy idea! She giggled again, hysterically.

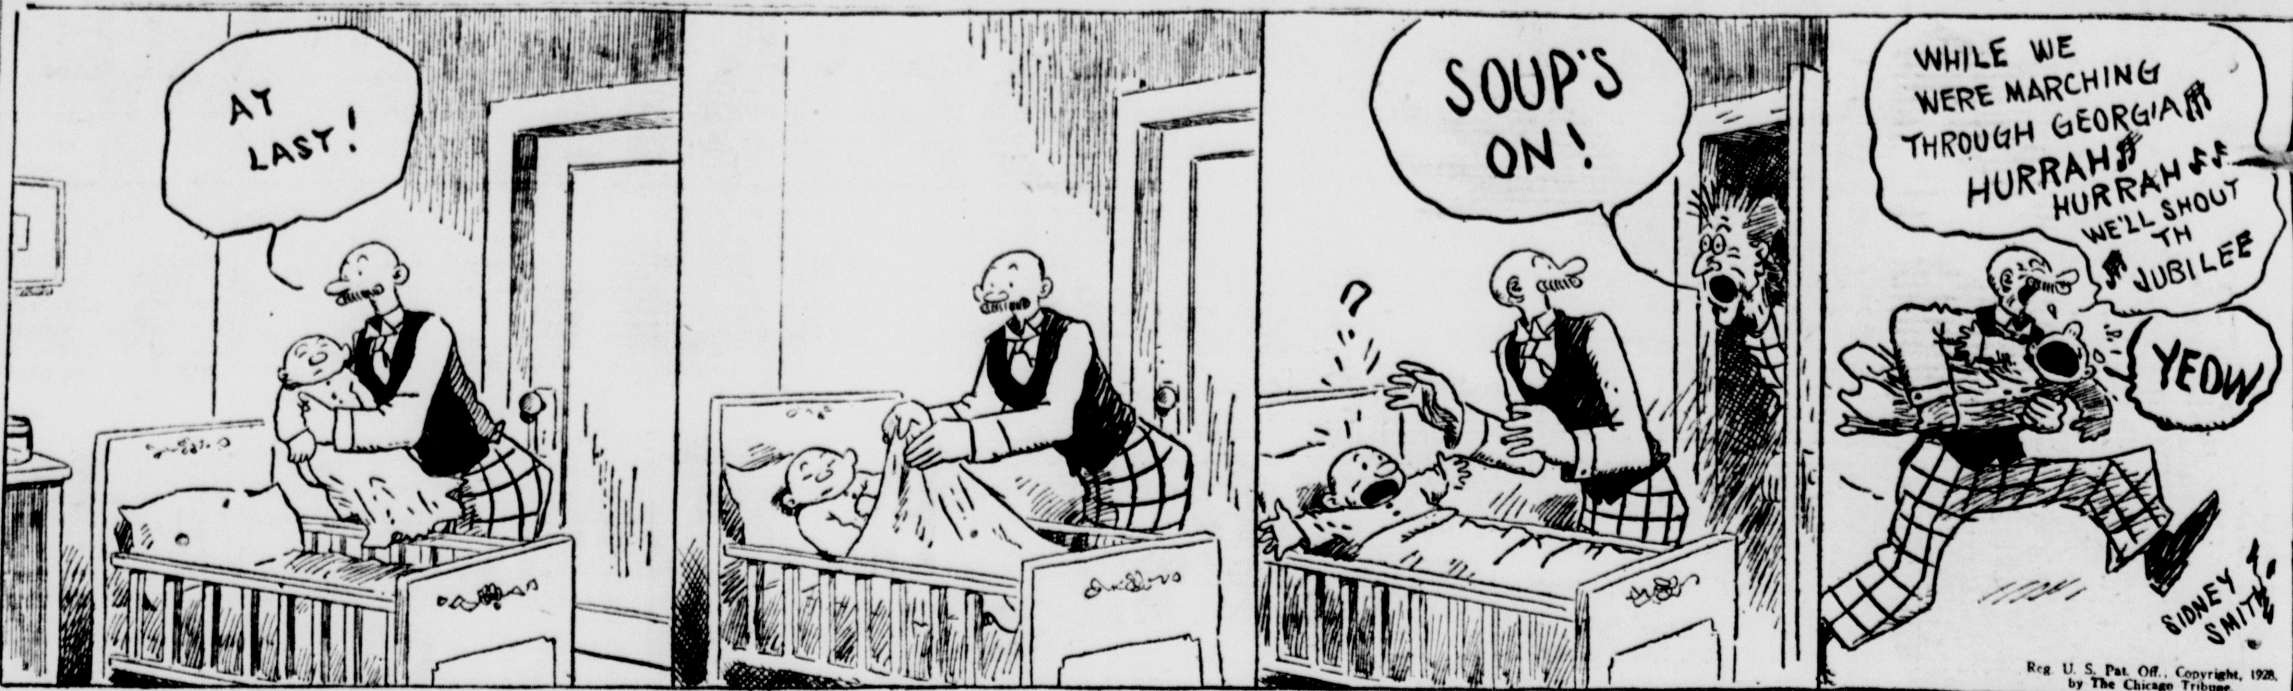

The girl turned away, disgusted with her, and Daphne sank back into the half stupor that had claimed her. She sat there all day, rousing herself at intervals, to answer the questions that were put to her. No, she hadn't had any experience in a bank. No, she couldn't run a comptometer. No, she didn't mind working in a pickle factory.

It really looked as though she might get the pickle job, but then finally decided to "let her know later," Daphne knew what that meant.

"I ought to feel simply awful!" she thought on her way back from the pickle factory. "It's twenty-four hours since I've eaten, and only five cents—and no job—"

$40,000 STADIUM PROPOSED AT PATTERSON FIELD

Erection of a concrete stadium, costing $40,000, with seating accommodations for 3,400 persons, may be undertaken at Patterson field next year if a plan, recommended by Engineer J. R. Daugherty and approved by the school board, is followed.

Daugherty believes that the erection of the stands can be financed through the sale of season tickets, good for five years. These tickets, selling at $10 each, would finance the stadium if a sufficient number were disposed of.

Plans To Build in Units.

The proposed stands will occupy ground recently turned over to the school board by the Standard Oil company, part of which is now occupied by temporary bleachers. The construction could be taken up in units and the seating space increased from time to time as funds were made available. The tract which Daugherty favors extends along part of the west side of the athletic field, being 360 feet in length and 40 feet in depth.

Concrete stands, Daugherty declares are more serviceable than steel seats because, if properly constructed, they will last forever. While steel stands may be erected at a lesser cost, the upkeep is expensive and the life of the stands is but a few years when all metal work must be replaced because of rust and erosion.

The school board is without funds with which to finance the erection of the stands but Daugherty suggests that the movement should be launched by outside interests. The school board, which has supervised the athletic field, would welcome any movement looking toward the construction of permanent seating facilities at the athletic grounds and would lend its heartiest co-operation in such a campaign.

Daugherty also suggests that shrubbery be planted along the inside of the wire mesh fence which surrounds the field. This, he claims, would obstruct the view into the enclosure from spectators along West Eighth and West Fourth street extension. The Pennsylvania Railroad company, whose tracks border the south side of the field and the Standard Oil company, on the west side, have taken steps to enforce the "no loitering" order on their property on days upon which football games are scheduled.

While the board of education has already spent approximately $15,000 on the ground, the improvements are only partially completed. No drainage system has been provided under the practice field, tennis courts or playgrounds in West Eighth street. Building of the tennis courts and playgrounds will be started next year if funds are available.

185 SCHOOL MUSICIANS ON DEDICATORY PROGRAM

With two high school bands, 185 pieces strong, playing martial airs amid the booming of huge triple bombs, the firing of a 21-gun salute by members of the American Legion and the Veteran of Foreign Wars following a parade and addresses by educational officials and Billy Sunday famed, evangelist and former star base ball player, Patterson field, recently evolved into an outstanding gridiron, diamond and all-around under-graduate and city play-ground, will be formally dedicated Saturday afternoon.

The event, certain to attract an unusual attendance, will precede the football game between the East Liverpool high school eleven and the Martins Ferry high teams. Persons admitted will be permitted to remain for the contest which, owing to the fact that the clubs have met but once in two years when the down river aggregation won by the narrow margin of 13 to 12, guarantees a stellar pig-skin engagement.

Dedication at 2:30 p. m.

The dedicatory exercises will begin promptly at 2:30 o'clock with a formal procession which will be headed by the grand marshal who will follow three young girls yet to be selected, dressed in white, one carrying the American flag, the second that of Martin's Ferry and the third the emblem of the East Liverpool high school.

Behind him will march the firing squads of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Immediately thereafter will tramp a contingent of the East Liverpool Boy Scouts who will carry a large American flag which will be guarded by a detachment of the American Legion with another of the Veterans of Foreign Wars acting as the rear guard.

Led by Drum Major James Maley, the East Liverpool school band will be next in line with the Martin's Ferry band just behind them.

Superintendents C. S. McVay and Walter Kocher and Principals B. G. Ludwig and R. M. McFarland, of the respective contesting schools, will have the place behind the two musical organizations.

Patterson Estate to Be Represented. The board of education, President

F. O. Glenn, Vice President C. A. Ferguson, R. B. Stevenson, J. T. Cronin, Dr. C. F. Kinsey and Clerk Emmett Gaston, with former members D. F. White, George Wilhelm and Frank T. Weaver, will then precede members of the Martins Ferry board of education who will be headed by President Dr. C. B. Messerly.

EVANGELIST SUNDAY WILL VISIT SPORTS CENTER

erson, who presented the former West End park as the present field to the school and the city, will be represented by Lawrence Patterson, Mrs. May Morley Bryan and Charles Doyd. With them at this point in the line will also march Miss Florence Updegraff, former principal of the East Liverpool schools.

The procession will include J. R.

Dougherty, engineer of the transformed field and Contractor Peter Milliron, both of whom will be followed by Chief of Police Hugh McDermott and Captain Mason Conley, Mayor Ralph Benedum, Municipal Judge Jesse Hanley, other officials and councilmen.

The formation will be made at the playground, off Eighth street and the trek towards the Patterson monument, where the public exercises will be held, will be west to the main entrance, into the field, thence to the north goal and the south goal posts and the objective.

Will Fire Triple Bombs.

The exercises will be opened by the firing of huge triple bombs under the direction of Clarence E. West, World war veteran and member of Company E which was enrolled for overseas duty here.

Both high school bands will then merge in the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner." At the conclusion of the music squads of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars will fire a salute to the American flag.

Following the rendition of a martial air by the visiting board the athletic field will be formally presented by Lawrence Patterson and in turn accepted by President Glenn of the board of education, who in turn will introduce Mayor Ralph Benedum for acceptance in behalf of the city.

At this juncture Billy Sunday, who plans to attend the game between the two contesting teams, will be presented for brief remarks.

At the conclusion of the evangelist's talk the procession in the same order in which the march was made to the monument will return to the places allotted them for the game.

Boosters' Day Celebration.

New seats have been built to accommodate the bands. The Martins Ferry musicians will sit back of the south goal posts and East Liverpool band behind the north goal post.

During the return march the East Liverpool band will play. With all in their respective seats the referee will blow his whistle and the initial game following the completion of the legal and formal transfer of the field will be on.

The occasion also will take on the lines of a Boosters' day in that the dollar fee asked for entrance is expected to eliminate the cost for the flag and pole installed on the field.

Mrs. Frances T. Northcross is receiving the hearty co-operation of our store in the Cooking School demonstration of proper kitchen and dining room furnishings.

You and Your Family - - -

Eat nearly a thousand meals a year in your dining room and of course its true too that the kitchen and its furnishings are used equally as much, so isn't it very essential that they both be attractive—that the furniture be good and substantial? A dinner served and prepared in the right atmosphere is many times more delicious. You can have furnishings that will be a joy forever—and for a smaller sum than you imagine.

Mrs. Northcross, in advocating labor saving and sanitary floor coverings for the kitchen says: Color flooring for the kitchen and dining room can be as great a source of pleasure as a lovely rug in the living room.

Because of Their Absolute Purity

Golden Star Dairy Milk and Cream are selected by a recognized authority.

Mrs. Frances T. Northcross, who is to conduct the Review Cooking School at the Eagles' Auditorium, on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons of this week, and who is a nationally known food expert, has selected Golden Star Milk and Cream to use exclusively throughout her demonstrations. What better tribute could be paid to any food product?

Golden Star Milk

Mrs. Frances T. Northcross put Golden Star Milk to every test and finds that it is of the highest standard of purity, that it is delicious to the taste; and of high nutritious value. She marveled at the orderliness of the Golden Star Dairy, at the modern dairy machinery and at the scientifically trained workmen. USE OF MEAT WHOLESOME

Cheaper Cuts as Nutritious as Choicest Steaks and Roasts.

The appetite of man craves meat and from earliest times he has used animal foods. The body seems to be adapted to a mixed diet and the use of meat is both wholesome and nutritious.

We enjoy eating meat and for this reason are liable to eat too much. This causes digestive disturbances. Moderation is desirable and this is particularly true for the sedentary worker who cannot handle as much protein as can the active out-door laborer. A judicious amount of meat in the diet will induce good nutrition and in normal individuals will do no harm. The main trouble with the meat eater is that he does not know when he has had enough.

The lean muscle of meat supplies us with tissue building material while the fat furnishes fuel and energy. The protein of meat, however, is no better for tissue building purposes than is the protein of milk and eggs.

Meat is completely and easily digested and it has been found that there is no difference in the digestibility of the cheaper and more expensive cuts of meat. The cheaper cuts will nourish your family just as well as the choicest steaks and roasts. There is very little difference in the digestibility of meat of the various animals.

The flavor of meat depends upon the extractives or meat juices. They have no food value but they stimulate the flow of digestive juices and in this manner aid digestion. Clear broth at the beginning of a meal has little food value in itself, but it aids materially in the digestion of the other food. Soaring meat at the beginning of the cooking process prevents the escape of the extractive and makes better flavored meat.

Meat is our most expensive food and it should be bought and used to the best advantage. Probably one meat dish a day in a varied diet including milk and eggs, will give us an adequate amount and neither too much nor too little meat will be eaten.

Much of the flavor and palatability of meat depends upon the cooking. An excellent steak may be toughened and ruined by wrong cooking and the cheapest cut may be rendered palatable and tender by proper cooking. It takes more skill to prepare the cheaper cuts of meat but it is well worth the housewife's while to learn to cook and serve attractively the cheapest cuts.

Slow cooking just below the boiling point is best especially for tough meat. Tough meat should be cut in small pieces to cook. Soaking in vinegar and water helps to make the tough fibers more tender. Browning helps bring out the flavor. Vegetables and savory herbs cooked with the meat give added flavor.

People in the western part of the Dominican Republic are slowly recovering from the effects of the recent hurricane.

APPETIZING MEAT RECIPES

Swiss Steak.

Have any quantity round steak cut rather thick. Score and rub flour in to both sides. Sear on both sides and add one large tablespoon lard to frying pan. Then cover with boiling water. Add sliced onions and tomatoes on top of steak and season to taste. Cover pan and let simmer for two hours.

Roast Beef with Yorkshire Pudding.
The beef is roasted as usual and the pudding made as follows:

Yorkshire Pudding.

3 eggs, 1 pint milk, 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt.

Beat the eggs until very light, then add the milk. Pour the mixture over the flour, add the salt, and beat well. Bake in a hot oven for 45 minutes, and baste with drippings from the beef.

Beefsteak with Tart Gravy.

1 pound round steak, 2 tablespoons butter or other fat, 1 onion, 1 sweet red pepper, 1-4 cup vinegar, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 cup milk.

Cut meat in pieces for serving, roll in flour and sprinkle with salt. Melt butter in frying pan, put in meat, onion and flour, and brown meat. Add vinegar and water to cover. Cover the pan and simmer until the meat is tender. Thicken the liquid with the tablespoon of butter and flour rubbed together, and add the milk.

Boiled Ham.

8 to 13 pounds ham, 1 cup stock, 1-2 cup vinegar, 3-4 cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon mustard.

For an 8-13 pound ham. Clean thoroughly, cover with cold water and boil for about four hours (until tender). Let it stand overnight in this juice. Next day remove and place in open baking pan. Stick cloves over all the top and bake in oven until brown. Basting it almost continually with the vinegar and the mixture of stock off of the ham, brown sugar, cinnamon and mustard. Can add raisins if desired to this thick sauce.

Cold Sliced Beef Loaf.

1-2 pounds of chopped beef, 1-2 pound of chopped pork steak, 6 crushed crackers, 2 teaspoons poultry seasoning, 1 egg, beaten, 1 cup milk.

Turn into an oblong pan, sprinkle with diced fat pork, put two or three slices of the pork over the top and bake about one hour.

Roast Beef Pie.

4 cups cold roast beef, 2 cups gravy, 2 cups diced boiled potatoes, 1 onion, 2 cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 2 tablespoons shortening, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 3-4 cup milk.

Mix beef, gravy, potatoes and onion together and place in bottom of baking dish. Make a biscuit dough of flour, baking powder, salt, shortening and milk. Pat into shape and cover beef. Bake until brown.

Deviled Steak.

1-2 pounds round steak, cut thick, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon onion, chopped, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon mustard, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 2 cups water, pepper and paprika.

Melt butter in frying pan, add onion and brown. Cut steak into pieces and dredge in flour. Sauté in frying pan until brown. Remove meat and add other ingredients. Add water slowly and let thicken. Add steak again, cover pan closely and simmer until steak is tender, about one hour. Serve on platter with gravy poured over it.

Beef Loaf.

1 pound lean beef, 1-4 pound salt pork, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1-4 cup crumbs, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon milk, 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion.

Grind meat and mix with all other ingredients. Place in a baking pan and bake in moderate oven for 1-2 hour.

Bouabons.

2 cups ground cooked meat, 1-2 cup bread crumbs, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon celery salt, 1-2 teaspoon pepper.

Beat eggs; add milk; add seasoning, butter, meat and crumbs. Mix thoroughly and fill buttered cups two-thirds full of mixture. Place cups in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven until mixture sets in middle. Serve with tomato sauce.

Meat Cakes.

1 pound chopped veal, 1-4 pound soaked bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons fat or butter, 1 teaspoon chopped onion, 1-2 teaspoons salt, dash of pepper.

Mix all the ingredients except the butter or fat and shape into small round cakes. Melt the fat in a baking pan and brown the cakes in it, first one side and then the other. Either cooked or raw veal may be used. In the case of raw meat the pan should be covered so that the heat may be retained to soften the meat.

Stuffed Leg of Lamb.

Remove the bone from a leg of spring lamb. Stuff with the following:

2 cups fresh bread crumbs, 1-3 cup melted butter, 1-4 cup hot water.

Season with salt, paprika and, if no objections, poultry or sage seasoning. Oysters may be cleaned, drained, chopped and added to the stuffing. Six large oysters would be enough for this amount of stuffing. Fasten into shape with toothpicks and string; place on rack in dripping pan; dredge roast with flour and cover with strips of pork. Place in a very hot oven to brown, then reduce the fire. Add 1 cup hot water and baste every 15 minutes until the roast is done. Season when partly cooked.

Veal Birds.
Slices of veal cut very thin, 1 square inch salt pork for each bird, half as much fine cracker crumbs as meat, salt, pepper, lemon juice, 1 egg, slightly beaten, hot water to moisten crumbs, milk.

Pound veal until one-fourth inch thick. Trim into pieces two and a half by four inches. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Brush with lemon juice. Put veal trimmings and salt pork through chopper. Mix with moistened crumbs and egg. Spread on veal. Roll up and fasten with skewers. Dredge with salt, pepper and flour. Fry in hot fat until a brown. Then half cover with brown. Simmer until tender.

25 YEARS OF KNOWING HOW

FORMER GRID PLAYER ATHLETIC FIELD ENGINEER

J. L. Daugherty, Youngstown, former Grove City college football player, high school coach and a graduate sanitary engineer, prepared plans for and supervised the $15,000 improvements to Patterson field, which will be dedicated next Saturday afternoon.

Daugherty, a native of Jeannette, Pa., is a former resident of Columbiana county. He worked for the Deming Pump company, Salem, for nine months while he was a student in the engineering classes at the University of Pittsburgh. His wife was formerly Miss Edith Smith of Salem.

Graduated from Pitt.

He attended both Grove City college and the University of Pittsburgh, graduating from the latter institution as a sanitary engineer. He holds a B. S. S. E. degree. During the 12 years he has been engaged in the engineering profession, Daugherty has held several responsible positions as consulting engineer in drainage problems, in which he is an expert.

Daugherty, who was active in athletics while he was in college, holds a varsity letter in football granted at Grove City. He played football for 11 years, first in high school, then in college and, following his graduation, with a semi-pro team in Youngstown.

He was an athletic coach of Boardman high school for several years. He has also earned for himself a reputation as a baseball twirler.

Daugherty specializes in the construction of airports and athletic fields. He supervised the building of a municipal athletic field at Jeannette, Pa., his home city, and constructed fields for the Struthers high school, Indiana, Pa., high school and South high school at Youngstown. He also drew preliminary plans for a new athletic field at Girard, Youngstown suburb.

Solves Drainage Problem.

In preparing his plans for the improvements at Patterson field, Daugherty said he had two points in view—one from a technical standpoint and the other from the viewpoint of a football player. On none of the fields which Daugherty has worked has he been more elated than with the results which were accomplished here.

He points out that the soil underlying Patterson field is a mixture of loam and sand which is ideal for drainage purposes. In this the field has measured up to the engineer's expectations so far as drainage is concerned.

Daugherty is the father of two children, William J., 11, and Julia Ann, 7. His home is at 347 Park drive, Youngstown.

FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE
GIVES STRENGTH TO REBUILD HEALTH
OVER 73 YEARS OF SUCCESS

Little Green Capsule Stops Rheumatic Agony

One Every Hour for Ten Hours and Relief is Almost Certain.

Often in Five Days, Even the Tenderness is Gone.

The fame of the little green capsule, because of its canny power to speedily stop the terrible rheumatic pains that make life almost unbearable, is rapidly spreading all over America.

You go about conquering your merciless rheumatic enemy in a different way—a knock-out way. You take one tiny capsule each hour for the first ten hours.

The second day, take one every two hours for 14 hours—Then take 4 little green capsules every day until every last little twinge and every bit of tenderness is gone and your rheumatic troubles have ceased.

The little green capsules now so much in demand from coast to coast must have a name so it is known in every worthwhile drug store in America as Allen's Number 2.

Carnahan's Drug Stores says these little wonder-working capsules must banish all pain and torture in 5 days or money cheerfully refunded.

YEARS OF AGONIES ARE FOLLOWED BY COMPLETE HEALTH

Former Sufferer Describes How She Was Relieved of Stomach and Kidney Disorders.

"Konjola has given me new health in every way and I am glad to tell others about it so they may benefit in the same way," said Mrs. Bertha Thompson, R. F. D. No. 6, Xenia, Ohio.

"I suffered from a complication of health troubles—a disordered stomach, weakened kidneys and rheumatic pains. It does not seem possible that a person could exist with these troubles, especially in their worst form. Day in and day out I was forced to stand intense misery and all the medicines and treatments had no more effect on me than so much water.

"When I first started taking Konjola I had little faith in it, but several days convinced me that this was the medicine I had always needed. My stomach and kidneys regained their normal health condition and the different symptoms disappeared as if by magic. It is a fact when I say that there is not a rheumatic pain anywhere in my body and that I feel like a different person. All my new health is due to Konjola and that is why I am endorsing it."

Konjola is sold in East Liverpool, Ohio, at Carnahan's drug store and by the best druggists in every town throughout this entire section.

A total of 9,167 loaded cars were moved out of Weirton and a total of 15,154 railroad cars were handled in and out of the Weirton district during the month of October by the Pennsy system, according to a report issued today by P. H. Webner, freight agent.

Webner said that the volume of business handled during the month was greater than that handled the same month in 1927 and about the same for the month of September, 1928.

Increased business of the Weirton Steel company, and the rush period prior to the closing of the lakes to navigation were attributed by Webner for the decided increase in car movement.

LEADCLAD

A roof or fence is only as good as its coating!

When the coating disappears, get ready to buy new roofing or fence. The metal CAN'T last after this protective metal is worn away. That's why Leadclad has a thick coating of PURE LEAD. This coating is seven times heavier and three times thicker than the zinc coating on ordinary galvanized roofing—that's why it lasts years longer. Leadclad saves you the price of two roofs or fences.
